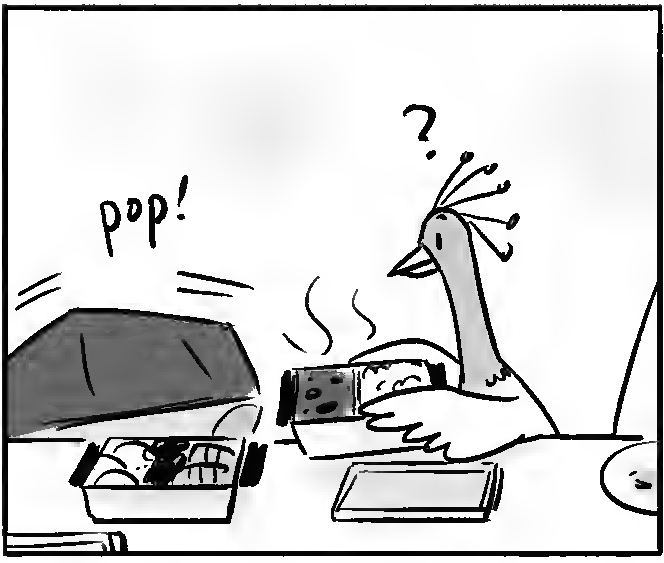
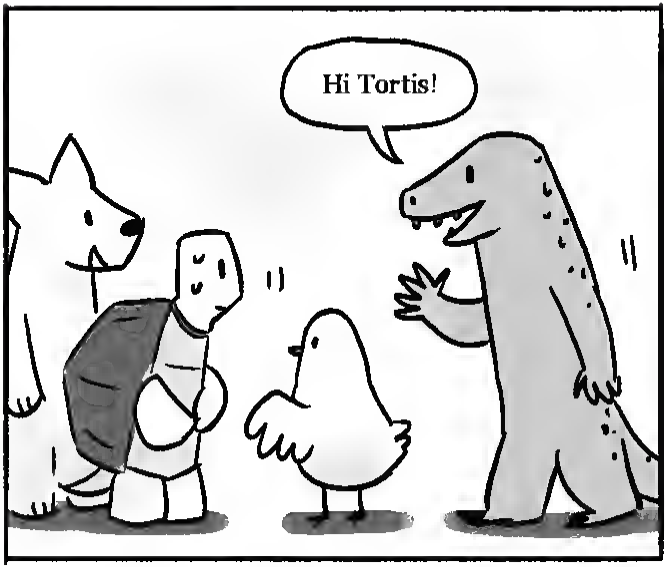
You are now legal to drink, Tortis!
Try some local beer! It's the best in town!
Okay...

Come on!



When he needed to do things on his own...

When he met new friends...



Ginger tea...Ginger tea...
I'll say "Ginger tea, please."

LAWN MUSIC FESTIVA

It feels safe inside and he doesn't want to leave the comforting warmth.

When Tortis was a little tortoise,

his mother taught him how to protect himself.

It was very scary, but it's also exciting and...fun.

The world suddenly became bigger and more colorful.

Animals Around The World #4

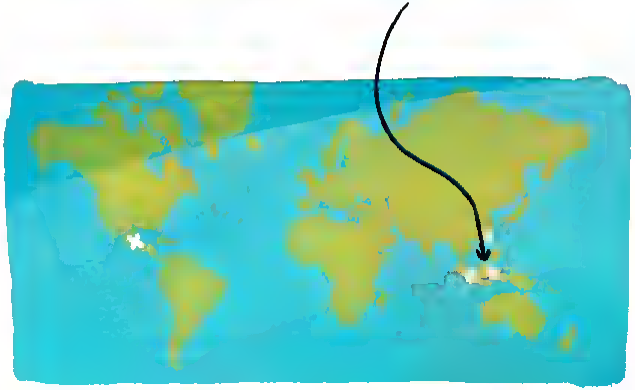
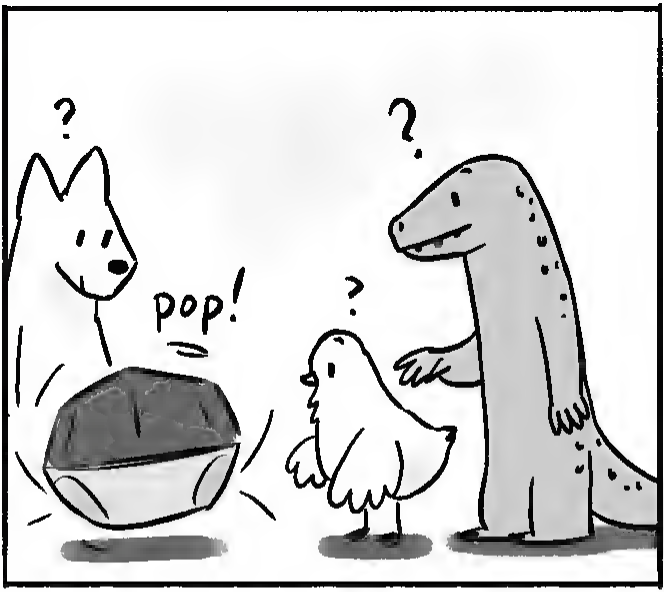
First comment from Indonesia!

Jonawi Ng
I'm from Indonesia, and my national animal is komodo dragon and Javan hawk-eagle

Readers in Indonesia!



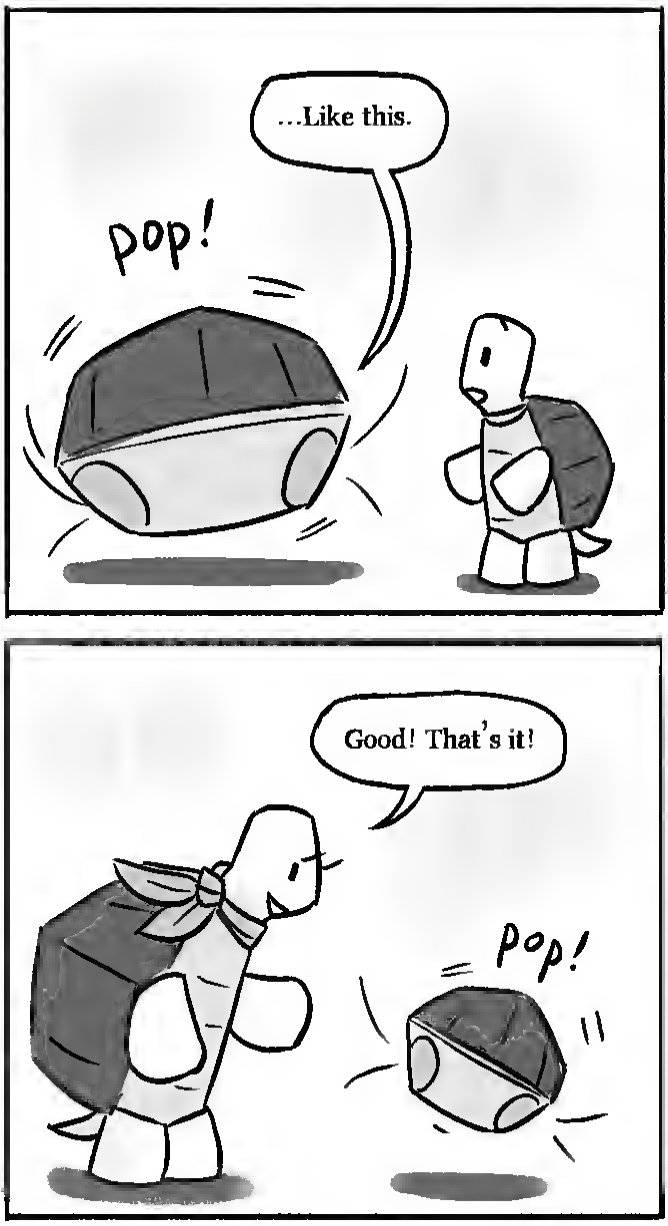


When he was asked to try something new...

Because Tortis couldn't hide in his comfort zone,

he was forced to try a lot of new things

he hasn't experienced before.



...Like this.
pop!
Good! That's it!
pop!

Class, let's welcome our new classmate Tortis..
???

You will have to practice it often, though.

However,

it began to affect Tortis's life as he grew older.

When he went to a new school...

Tortis, you can't hide in your shell forever!
You are missing all the good things happening in life!
I'm scared of rollercoasters...

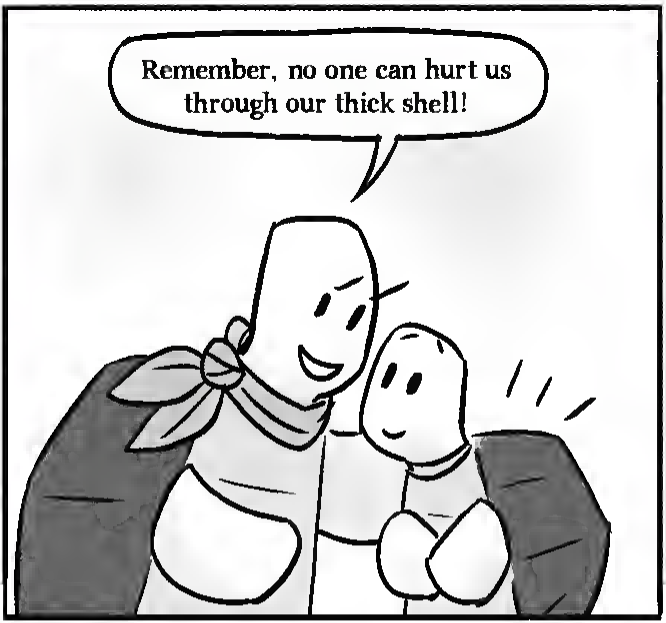
G-Ginger tea, please...



Tortis kept to his mother's words.

Whenever he feels scared, he hides into his shell.

The Komodo Dragon
is only found in Indonesia!

LAWN MUSIC FESTIVAL

When Tortis became an adult,

his friends took him out to celebrate.

Stepping Out Of Comfort Zone

ROAR STREET JOURNAL

Try some of this curry!
It's my favorite food!

sniff

...It's actually not that bad to step out of your comfort zone.

Because the beer made Tortis's skin swell a little,

he couldn't retreat into his shell.
